

Perhaps it may be expedient to begin text book with something to this effect: That the mental character of G. B. made S. V. always of unpopularity when; but less when she had Scotland as a land neighbor affording a foothold to continental alliance and also when she had no distinctly national possessions outside of England.

The coincidence of the Establishment of the E. I. Co. with accession of James I; and also that the settlements in N. Am. were in his view -

I. E. Coincidence of the whole island coming under one King, with the creation of external interests - beginning of American Empire
