INSTRUCTIONS GOVERNING THE CUSTODY AND DISPOSITION OF CONFIDENTIAL AND SERIAL NUMBERED PUBLICATIONS
ISSUED IN CONNECTION WITH THE COURSE OF INSTRUCTION

The officer receiving this publication will note that it is marked CONFIDENTIAL and bears a serial number. Upon issue it is charged against the officer receiving it, either by signed receipt or record book entry. It must be safeguarded and accounted for at all times, and must be returned personally to the Publication Section, Room N-11, by the officer to whom issued, for file and cancellation of receipt.

The following procedure covers in general the return to file of all Confidential and serial numbered publications:

- (a) If issued in Strategy or Tactics Jackets it should be returned at end of Academic Year in the Jacket in which it was originally issued.
- (b) If an OPERATIONS PROBLEM it should be returned immediately after the Critique and Discussion of the Problem. The same procedure applies to TACTICAL PROBLEMS.
- (c) If a Publication of a general nature issued during the Academic year, and not included in (a) or (b) above, it should be returned as soon as practicable after it has served its purpose.

READING MATTER PERTAINING TO TACTICS

The Reading Matter pertaining to Tactics consists of books and papers recommended for study together with a list of reference books and papers to be found in the War College Library and Archives. The Student Officer must make a careful estimate of the time available and decide what to read under each subject. The pamphlet is a general guide for reading. It is not expected that each officer will read all books listed.

(A) FUNDAMENTAL TACTICAL PRINCIPLES.

A knowledge of fundamental tactical principles is derived from the analytical study of war. They are applicable to war on land and sea.
